Sewerage Problems Discussed

Problems relating to the present sewerage system installation in Waveland were discussed last Wednesday night when the city's mayor and board of aldermen met with Clarence Evans, resident engineer and Charles Byrd, prime contractor on the job.

Most of the complaints were centered around breaks in the city's water lines resulting from sewerage construction. Evans told the board that he had received numerous complaints from residents about water leaks in the "center of town", that area bordered by Terrace and Favre Streets. He also pointed out that he had some difficulty in getting the repairs fixed by the contracting company.

Explaining that many of the leaks were due to the age of some of the pipe and the fact that most of the four-inch pipes are galvanized, Byrd told the board that the company was doing everything possible to permanently repair leaks caused by the work crews.

Byrd contends that in some cases, the actual location of water pipes does not agree with their locations as shown on maps given to the contractor by the city. "Nothing has been where it's shown on the map," he said.

The board agreed with Byrd that in many cases, the pipes are in bad condition and will have to be replaced but Aldermen John Longo said that "this is a city problem... we are only concerned with the breaks made by your company."

Evans then told the board that "on the big part of the sewerage installation, the contractor is doing things right... but not on some things which irritate the public."

— Agreed to publish a proclamation making all citizens of Waveland "Irishmen For A Day" in observance of the Waveland Civic Association's St. Patrick's Day Parade.

BAY ST. LOUIS VOTERS que'd up all day Tuesday at City Hall in an unusually large voter turnout on the special election for city government change. A proposed council-manager form of government was defeated by close to 300 votes as unofficial returns showed that Bay residents preferred to keep the present three-man commission council government.

Bay Voters Reject Council-Manager

Apparently not yet ready to assume a different form of city government, Bay St. Louis residents voted Tuesday to retain the present three-man commission council form of government.

Despite extensive pre-election promotion and public information by a Council-Manager Committee, the new form was defeated in Tuesday's voting by a better than 300 vote margin.

Unofficial returns Wednesday morning showed 868 votes for the present form of government against 511 for the council-manager, with approximately one-third of registered electors voting.

'Drug Abuse Epidemic Reaches Gulf Coast'

The following is a statement from Dr. John Russell, director of the Miss. Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center in Gulfport: "That there is an epidemic of drug abuse in this region is no longer a question; it is now a well known fact. The epidemic has hit certain areas of the country such as the East and the West coasts much harder than others, but it is spreading rapidly.

The Gulf Coast is now beginning to feel the effects of drug abuse and the problem is progressing geometrically. Whereas a year ago a heroin addict was unheard of on the Coast, the Drug Abuse Center has been seeing more and more of them in recent months indicating a turn from soft drugs to harder ones. There are not only the stereotyped heroin addicts from the ghettos but there are also middle class juveniles turning to harder drugs.

"Of course, all segments of the population will be involved in the program. It has also been noticed by the Harrison County Family Court and the Gulfport Police Dept. that drug experimentation is beginning at a younger age. It is vital that this be stopped now before we have to deal with juvenile hard-core addicts involving more of the youth population.

"Statistics available from just one high school in one city on the coast, Gulfport, reveals levels of admitted drug use ranging from 14 to 21 percent in that student body.

"The Gulfport Police Dept. reports a higher incidence of drug use throughout the city's high schools ranging upwards to 70 percent. Overall the increase in drug arrests in the past year in Gulfport alone rose over 200 percent (mostly juveniles). Preventing the spread of this epidemic is the prime consideration of the Miss. Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center."

Dr. Russell will be principal speaker at a drug forum Friday evening in Bay St. Louis.

Jointly sponsored by American Legion Post 139, Bay St. Louis Police Dept. and the Hancock County Sheriff's Dept., the forum will be held at the Legion Hall on Green Meadow Road and will begin at 7:30 p.m. Other speakers will include Long Beach Assistant Police Chief James Hanley and District Attorney Albert Necaise, both authorities in the field of law enforcement and drug abuse in the Gulf Coast area.

Bay Police Chief William Carbonette, who is coordinating the forum, has stressed that the meeting is open to the general public free of charge and urges parents, educators and teenagers in the general area to attend the informative drug clinic.

"This forum should be of particular interest to the youth of our community, especially those of elementary school age," Carbonette pointed out and expressed the hope that a good percentage of young people would attend.

Hanley and Necaise will discuss law enforcement and the drug offender and how current narcotics laws affect your child. Dr. Russell will show film clips of youthful drug abusers and the results of their actions. A question and answer period will follow the panel talks.

Radar Used For City Traffic Control

The Bay St. Louis Police Department is now using radar for traffic control in various areas throughout the city, Police Chief William Carbonette has announced.

Speed limit "Radar Controlled" signs have been posted for the past six months warning drivers of the new system. The general speed limit for city streets and thoroughfares is 25 miles per hour and 15 MPH in school zones except otherwise posted, such as the Old Spanish Trail from Washington St. to the city limits, where the speed limit is 30 MPH.

The need for the radar system was made vividly obvious when city police issued 46 citations for excess speeds in the first two days of using the radar.

Bay Operation Upturn Rated Satisfactory By HUD

The Bay St. Louis commission council has been informed by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Jackson that no findings have come as a result of an August 1972 examination of Operation Upturn records and books.

In the report dated February 23, 1973, Region IV inspector general J. L. Hutton stated "We have examined the books and records of the City of Bay St. Louis, ... pertaining to Interim Assistance Program and Certified Area Program for the period December 19, 1969 through August 30, 1972." The purpose of examination of the two HUD emergency rehabilitation programs, which operated under the cover name of Operation Upturn in four coast cities, was to determine eligibility of recorded program costs as well as to determine the degree of compliance by the city and Upturn administrators with policies and regulations of HUD.

A summary of the report stated that the Bay St. Louis Program's system of internal control and accounting for the receipt and disbursement of funds was found to be "generally adequate," with no findings, or discrepancies, noted.

A breakdown of disbursements by Bay Upturn over the two-year period of operation shows IAP (municipal improvement) program costs totaled $902,015, while a total of $1,020,066 was expended under CAP (residential rehab) grant payments. Another $333,300 was spent under CAP rehabilitation loans to individuals for home upgrading.

Program costs were financed by HUD letter of credit drawdowns of $543,121 and non-federal funds and services amounting to $258,894. An additional $67,077 went into CAP coffers from property owners entering into grant-loan contracts for residential rehabilitation.

A large percentage of Interim Assistance Program funds in the four cities were expended for CAP administrative salaries and expenses as administrative costs were disallowed under CAP regulations.

In the report, a cost breakdown for Bay St. Louis IAP revealed $182,247.47 out of total program cost of $902,015 was spent on administrative items. More than twice that figure, or $462,448.11, went in public repairs and improvements. The balance was spent on training, legal, operations, comprehensive cleanup, rodent control and extermination, new temporary playgrounds, demolition and program inspection.

The Operation Upturn programs in Waveland, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Long Beach were administered for the cities by General Electric Company, under contracts with the company's Management and Technical Services Division.

Bay St. Louis will receive some $54,300.36 from HUD in rebate for monies loaned by the city to IAP in completion of the program in 1972.

Three men will be inducted into the St. Stanislaus Hall of Fame at the second annual induction ceremony to take place on March 24 on the St. Stanislaus campus. The inductees include one deceased member, William Kenny, and two living members - Doctor M. J. Wolfe, Sr. and C.J. Taylor. The Hall of Fame is a project of the St. Stanislaus Alumni Association and induction takes place on an annual basis.

He then pursued a career in coaching and is presently serving as assistant athletic director and head baseball coach at the University of Southern Doctor M. J. Wolfe, Sr. graduated from St. Stanislaus in 1923 at the top of his class. He then graduated from Tulane Medical School in 1932 among

New Faces, New Talent Come To Little Theatre

The forthcoming Bay St. Louis Little Theatre production, INVITATION TO A MARCH, which will be presented for three nights starting March 29, is already an exceptional play in its casting alone.

Members of the cast represent five coastal communities. Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian, Lakeshore, and Diamondhead and grew up in eight states: Wisconsin, Tennessee, Texas, Ohio, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Florida, and Washington.

Since only one has ever appeared in a play at the local theatre and since most are relative newcomers to this area, they will be introduced this week and next week in the Sea Coast Echo.

ANITA BREWER, who has lived with her husband and three children in Pass Christian for the past year, is one of the two members of the cast with extensive experience in the theatre. Her involvement in play production began when she was 12, continued through high school and developed into radio and television work in Memphis. She took part in numerous plays in both the Jackson, Tennessee, and Memphis Little Theatres and says this is her one hobby. Her husband is employed at Diamondhead.

HELEN KING, who is co-directing the play with EVELYN GRIFFITH, is also

Main speaker for the revival will be Evangelist Grady Smith from Perry County, Miss. The Revival, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening, is open to the general public, according to a spokesman.

Anti-Drug Campaign By Radio Stations

Beginning March 18th and extending through March 21st, WGCM and WTAM radio stations will embark upon one of the most aggressive anti-drug campaigns ever staged in Harrison County.

Twenty-Six 30-minute programs prepared by Robert Savage, formerly with CBS and the U.S. Information Service, dealing with drug abuse will be aired during this period.

Local and national experts have been contacted to serve on panels to answer questions on Drug and Chemical Abuse. Immediately following these programs telephone questions and answers will be broadcast.

Ten thousand drug identification guides have been purchased to pass out to parents and others to assist in the identification of drugs and drug problems.

All area schools, churches, local civic groups and organizations will be asked to cooperate by urging listening to the programs.

A massive "TURN IN" of drugs and chemicals will be called for upon completion of the programs and everybody will be asked to clean out their medicine cabinets and get rid of potentially dangerous drugs.

Follow up campaigns will be staged to see that a continuing program of drug awareness is accomplished.

Officers

Re-Elected

An election of officers of the Bay St. Louis Little League was held March 9th at the Wheel In Restaurant. The following incumbent officers were re-elected: Al Geroux, president, Jack Sotak, vice-president and Fred Cabell, secretary treasurer.

A special meeting to form a Women's Auxiliary will be held at the Wheel In Restaurant Friday, March 16th at 7 p.m. It is requested that all interested women attend.

Grand Marshal for the parade will be James R. Kelly. The maids in waiting are Penny Shilling, and Cheryl Goetz.

"We were tired of the Bay and the Pass and Biloxi and all the other places having all the fun with their various parades, and besides, we wanted to celebrate the wearing of the Green," explained one of the originators.

From that beginning the Waveland St. Pat's Parade has grown into an annual institution.

Grand Marshal for the parade will be James R. Kelly. The maids in waiting are Penny Shilling, and Cheryl Goetz.

In an article describing the SJA-OLG Carnival Ball last week, Mrs. William Argus, Jr. was erroneously named as director of the Hawaiian songs and dances. Mrs. John McKenna, entertainment chairman, directed the Hawaiian segment.

Music for the Ball was furnished by the Skyliners, not the Marinaires as reported in the same article.

Altrusans Aid Youth Center

The Hancock County Youth Detention Center has a "new look" thanks to the members of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Altrusa Club.

Last Thursday night, Altrusans presented sheets, towels, pillows, toilet articles and reading materials to John Chevis, Youth Court counselor and Michael D. Haas, Youth Court referee.

The Center, erected in 1971, was financed by American Legion Post 139 of Bay St. Louis, Law Enforcement Assistance Division Funds and public contributions. Two cells, containing two sets of bank beds each, are used to house juvenile and female offenders.

Primarily a service organization, the local Altrusa Club was formed in September, 1972 and has chosen the Center as its major project.

Cop Out Parents

How much do you care about your child?
 Do you care enough to go to the drug abuse forum Friday night at the American Legion Hall? Or are you going to come up with a long string of excuses for not attending?

Spare us the excuses. We've heard them all and they're all a bunch of garbage. For those of you who don't attend, the only excuse you won't give is the truth—that you don't have the guts to go. Which, freely translated in more delicate terms, means that you don't REALLY love your child. You love him less than yourself and only enough to insure that he won't do anything to embarrass you, or cause YOU any trouble or cost you anything.

Do you love him enough to have him arrested for breaking the law? Do you love him enough to face the fact that his personality change probably means that he is turning on? Do you care enough to search his drawers and his room, or count the pills and medicines in your medicine cabinet? And when you do find something, do you care enough to face him with it and talk about it?

That takes guts. It's tough to be a parent these days, but it's also tough to be a teenager. The average 12 to 15-year-old has more pressure from his peer group than his parents ever did at his age and he needs all the help he can get. He looks to his parents for the strength and moral courage he hasn't developed yet.

He's looking to you for the strength to face life and facts and help him decide which way to go. You may be disappointed in him when he doesn't make the football team or come home with straight A's.

But he is also disappointed in you when you shove your parental responsibilities off on the police and the juvenile authorities. How do we know, and how do the police and juvenile authorities know? Because we talk to your children and they tell us the things that you don't want to hear.

—If you do ask him if he's turning on he'll probably lie. You know why? Not because he's afraid of you. Because he knows you can't handle it and he doesn't want to hurt you. Besides, how can you talk about something you know absolutely nothing about?

Dr. John Russell, Albert Necaise and Jim Hanley (Friday night's drug panel) care a lot about your kids. They all have children of their own and they know far more about your children and what they're doing than you do. They are taking time away from their children to come to Bay St. Louis and talk to you about your children—absolutely free. They are paid nothing and they charge nothing. THAT'S caring—and love.

What they're going to tell you will be hard to take. Dr. Russell is going to show films that will tear your heart out. Real scenes of real kids turning on and all strung out on dope. There are also scenes in the morgue of kids who are very dead from overdoses of dope. It's already happened here in Bay St. Louis. Your kid could be next.

Maybe you had better come Friday night and find out what's happening. And bring all your children with you, from second graders up. Don't ask them, tell them to come. You may be surprised to find out that there is very little that Dr. Russell will say about drug abuse that your children don't already know.

Any older teenagers who aren't afraid to come will think that they already know more than the panel does. But they haven't met Dr. Russell yet—are they in for a shock!

So what kind of parent are you? A cop out parent with no guts or one who really cares about his children?

Guess we'll know Friday night by those who come...and those who stay away.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

"The Ides of March are come," he jeered.
 But the soothsayer shook his head
 And sadly gazed at the doomed man,
 "But not yet gone," he said.

In other words, don't count your chickens before they're hatched. Or, the ball game isn't over till the last man's out. Everyone is a puppet of Fate; sometimes it hits like a load of bricks, but for most people it sneaks up and deals gently—most don't realize until they are old, how uneventful and humdrum their lives have been. Perhaps they are the lucky ones, but after all, what difference does it make? As Thomas Gray put it:

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
 And all that beauty, all that wealth
 e'er gave,
 Awaits alike the inevitable hour.
 The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

Many good men and women have lived out their whole lives in humble surroundings. Take the thousands who have worked and planned, loved and laughed, won or failed, right here in this section over the past hundred and fifty years: what memorials are there to these? What has their work accomplished, what monuments are there to their dreams? When their Ides of March came, they, like Caesar, departed; and as Lincoln might have said of them, "The world will little note, nor long remember, what they said here"—their paths of glory surely lead but to the grave.

And yet, what would this country, this community, be today were it not for the lives and virtues—aye, and faults—of the men and women who strove and hoped here over the years? For they were they little parts which forged the complicated whole, and our little spot on earth today is what they unknowingly made it.

And now all those oldsters have met their Ides of March and are gone. We remember finding, at one time, near Port Gibson, three unmarked graves, mere grasscovered depressions in the ground. These were once soldiers, or perhaps lawyers or merchants or farmers who played their part in the drama of life and are now one with the Ages. Were they ambitious or cowardly, did they aim high or grub among the hanks? But this we know: we are The Inheritors; whatever life is today in our neighborhood is the distillate of their lives, and whatever we are will be echoed in the Life to Come.

We are what suns and winds and waters make us,
 The mountains are our sponsors, and the hills
 Fashion and win their nurling with their smiles.

Forestry Report

People often overlook the destructiveness of woods fires because they are not directly deprived of economic value. This is not true whether you derive your income directly from the forest or not. Our total state economy is very much so inter-related to our forests.

Mississippi Forestry Commission County Forester Mike Hendry of Hancock County asked, "Have you got money to burn?" All of us would say no, however, when a forest fire occurs this is exactly what is happening.

We can not fool ourselves any longer but through public concern we must put a stop to the destructive woods arsonist and boost our economic standing for the years to come.

"OH, NO! . . . NOT AGAIN."

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

It was with disgust and disappointment that most black people and many black-conscious whites viewed your last issue.

A tremendous effort was put forth by many fine black people in an attempt to add to the festivities and enjoyment of Mardi Gras. Recognition of this effort by the local newspaper came only through a photo that did not portray the correct and total lineage this organization was trying to project.

Instead, it came through in the one-sided, stereotyped way that we feel you would most like us to portray. I am referring to the picture on page one of the Echo, captioned, THE LEGEND OF BOGGY CREEK?? Of all the fine facets of the parade, is this the only one that would merit your attention?

It did not surprise us because many of us felt even before seeing the paper that if anything, at all, would be worthy of your mention, it would be just what you put in and you came through true to form.

Was there nothing else in that whole parade that would have been worthy of appearing in your newspaper? It would have been better had you shown no recognition at all which seems to be the accepted policy as far as the black community is concerned, anyway.

Mind you, we are not at all ashamed of the jungle float which was created by our fine young people. We are indeed proud of them—proud that they showed the cooperation and the creativity of which they are capable to help make the parade a successful one. This was their thing; however, theirs was a singular effort, apart from the theme of the parade. We are disappointed that many fine features of the parade were ignored to focus on just this one.

Our talents abound and we question what you recognize in us.

Sincerely,

MRS. DOROTHY BRADLEY

OPEN LETTER TO THE
 CHAIRMAN OF THE
 BAY ST. LOUIS
 PLANNING AND ZONING
 COMMISSION

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Since you did not have the courtesy to give the Commission Council the benefit of your opinion except by a Letter to the Editor as printed in the March 8, 1973, edition of the Sea Coast Echo, I am using the same media for my retort, which is being written before the City-Manager election but which will not be published until after the election.

First, I am a "professional" with a Juris Doctor degree, which represents seven years of college training, and at 43 years of age, I believe I have the education, experience, and credentials necessary to question your motives and judgment as chairman of our Planning and Zoning Commission.

Secondly, let me make one point "perfectly" clear. Warren Carver and Andre Arceneaux know a great deal more about the needs, desires, and aspirations of the majority of the people of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, than you and I will probably ever know. My disagreements with my cohorts often are a direct result of our difference in backgrounds and basic philosophy. It is almost sadistic the manner in which our local newspaper delights in playing up our verbal exchanges, however, this is also the path you have chosen. My own impression is that people are not impressed by my degree or yours, or that you are a well-paid civil servant of the United States working at the test site and that you live in a large home on the beach with a lovely wife and four fine children, three of whom attend a private school. Neither are they interested in the fact that you and I moved to this area about ten years ago with a wealth of experience from other areas. People are interested in what affects them directly and financially—just as you and I are. For example, I know you are interested in the annexed area insofar as it affects the two pieces of highway property of which you are co-owner. You have questioned me on taxes, police and fire protection, garbage pickup and street lights, none of which fall under my direct supervision, but I cannot recall a serious discussion on the extension of the gas, water, and sewerage systems into the annexed area, except being asked about the location of the proposed water line and to agree that a total system will be expensive because of the low density of population in the areas. I do recall that Bouslog Street was paved without cost to the abutting property owners of which you are one.

Thirdly, to paraphrase another, your remarks at the public meeting last Monday night were "crude" and if they are indicative of the "professional" approach, I fail to comprehend it. Such remarks that would question the right of a "service station operator" to run for public office and be elected by democratic process to the office of Commissioner of Finance and the remark "you get what you pay for" sound more like back fence gossip than an intelligent discourse on the virtues of the City-Manager form of government as it would apply to our City. I believe that instead of calling the newspaper and asking them not to quote you and writing a letter of apology to Andre, that you should use a public forum and apologize to the people of Bay St. Louis for your unkind remarks.

As a person who knowingly has a low tolerance for stress, and as a "professional", I would like to remind all people who have had the good fortune to have an extensive academic education and formal training that often one of their biggest problems is that they tend to degenerate other men mainly to bolster their own feelings of self-esteem, and for a person to flaunt his intellectual ability is not the mark of a true "professional" or for that matter indicative of Christian character. The more difficult and humanitarian approach is to attempt to view the problems from the standpoint of the man on the street who pays your salary and mine. Nobody ever won a ball game sitting on the sidelines and telling others how the game should be played.

Fourthly, I have reviewed the minutes of the Planning and Zoning Commission and I find that only a few questions that have been before that group have been squarely faced and a decision made. To emphasize my point, at your meeting of February 15, 1973, the president of Magnolia State Supply Company, which is "near the Hancock Bank building", requested a change in zoning and motions were made that the usage as requested be allowed and to "table the appeal indefinitely". What earthly good is this to the owner who needs the change in order to lease his property for a business similar to that being carried on in the old Ford building where the Planning and Zoning Commission had changed the zoning to M-1 and which, incidentally, is "near the Merchants Bank building". Do you remember the Trinity Christian Training Institute request? It was tabled for six months at the meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission on December 19, 1972. Then we have a motion that was passed that city officials be "apprised" that the proposed construction on North Beach Boulevard and Highway 90 was "...not in compliance...". Again the question was not before your group, but I think you should know that the owner and his group are acting on the advice of other "professionals" and certainly with the blessing of the Commission Council. Then we have the meeting where the building of a steel structure at the end of Second Street was "approved" without the benefit of a petition or public notice and hearing. Which brings up the building inspector problem, who has been approved by a majority of the Commission Council. I do not like the decision but it was made twice and I accept that fact. Then we come to the motion that the Planning and Zoning Commission go on record as favoring the proposed City-Manager form of government as being more efficient than the existing form of government. It is interesting to read your letter to the editor that it "...voted without a single dissenting vote...". The minutes of that meeting reflect that 1 abstains, 2 absent and not voting, and 4 voting for. The innuendos I got from your letter were somewhat different than the minutes of the meeting. It was noted that on this particular vote the names were not given as to the vote, but I assume that, as chairman, you did not vote.

To my knowledge you have never received a request from me or the Commission Council to hold any kind of special or regular meeting with regard to recommendations as to a "Neighborhood Development Program". Please define "City Administration". Incidentally, as I remember, the Planning and Zoning Commission was requested to review the 701 Plan ten or twelve months ago. I am sure you know what the 701 Plan is. It is the one started by the General Electric Company, who, with all of their expertise, talents, resources, and "professional" help, had to get a consulting firm from Jackson to complete the job. If you will refer to the minutes of January 25, 1973, you will find reference to a phone call made to me at home for advice during the course of the meeting and I gave an off-the-cuff opinion which the Planning and Zoning Commission adopted. And in the same meeting, City Hall is berated for the applicant's problems.

"WITH THE ABOVE AS BACKGROUND", you may think that I am an egotistical snob but do you really

Legislative Report

By EARL "BUCK" LADNER
 STATE REPRESENTATIVE
 HANCOCK COUNTY

House Bill 140, known as the Coastal Wetlands Bill, has passed the House and is now in the Senate Marine Conservation Committee. The bill relates to the issuance of permits to alter the wetlands, and proposes to make the Mississippi Marine Resources Council the administrative agency.

Legislation to amend the Mississippi Garnishment Law died last week when the House voted to recommit House Bill 68 to the Judiciary "A" Committee for further study. The maneuver to recommit came after the House had voted in favor of an amendment to remove the employer from the collection and disbursement responsibilities. Though the legislation is dead for this session, the vote on the amendment did show there is much support in the Legislature to get the employer out of the collecting business.

On Wednesday, March 7, the House defeated Senate Bill 2062. If passed the bill would have created a Mississippi Egg Marketing Board for the purpose of promoting the use of eggs in Mississippi; to provide for an assessment of three cents per case on eggs produced or marketed in the state; to provide for collection by the Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, and for the use of such funds; to provide for licensing of persons selling eggs to retailers in Mississippi, and for related purposes. It was felt by the majority of the House that this legislation would only hurt the consumer public in the end.

House Bill 979, which was defeated by the House twice last week but held on a motion to reconsider, met with a compromise this past Tuesday and was unanimously approved by the House.

The compromise would put a 36 percent maximum interest rate on small loans; would allow direct borrowing from a lender without a middleman, and would require lenders to pay rebates on interest when a loan is paid or renewed ahead of schedule. This bill was considered to be a victory for the people.

The Mississippi Legislature is in the last three weeks of the 1973 session. Due to this I cannot say definitely if I will be able to meet with the public for the next 2 weeks. If anyone has any questions or would like to speak with me about any matter of which I may be of assistance, please call me in Jackson at 948-7321 or call locally 467-5117 and I will return your call as soon as I am contacted.

wonder why I question your motives for the letter to the editor on the eve of an election in which you have stated "City Manager is the only way to go"? Such dogmatic statements sound too much like me before I had the actual privilege of serving in municipal government.

Fifth and lastly, I sincerely hope that you will consider "donating" some more of your valuable time, talents, and "professional" opinions in "doing your utmost to help Bay St. Louis grow in a planned sensible manner" by going to the office of the City Clerk and signing up for one of the jobs available this July at half your salary. If doesn't cost one nickel to sign up. I promise you four years of the greatest learning experience you have ever had. Of course, it won't all be at a "professional" level, but it involves our one real asset—people.

We could use a registered professional engineer to take over as Commissioner of Utilities, and with a good secretary, and a little free legal advice, you might make it as City Clerk too. There is only one problem, how to get elected. But assuming that problem could be overcome, BEWARE of the Council Meetings, because sometimes I don't get my way and it makes me want to cry like a big baby. My advice to you is that if you don't like the heat in the kitchen—do like me—get out. In hoc signo vinces.

Scouts Honored At Banquet

Awards for achievement and plaques of appreciation were presented Friday night at the annual Blue and Gold Banquet honoring members and leaders of the Bay St. Louis Explorer Scouts and the many dens in Cub Pack 208.

Held in the cafeteria of Our Lady of the Gulf School, the affair was attended by a large crowd of scouts and parents, as well as members of American Legion Post 139, which sponsors the two groups.

At a Legion dinner the previous night, plaques for outstanding service were presented to Billy Power and Cecil Powell, Explorer Post Advisor and Associate Advisor respectively, Charles Sciamma, Assistant Scout Master and Robert Harvey, Cub Master.

At Friday night's affair, Scout Leader Jerry Willett, who was also honored, and Robert Harvey presented pins and certificates of achievement to the following: Den Mothers; Mmes. Aline Beal, Betty Harvey, Mary Willett, Sylvia Crowder, Myrt Haas, Diane Ladner, and Miss Nanci Campbell. Rowe Crowder received an award for his work as a committee man.

A pin for meritorious service was presented to Scoutmaster Warren Buehler and a special award went to Legion Commander Al Vetter.

Many individual awards for achievement went to young Cub Scouts, all of whom were smartly dressed out in uniform.

Diamond Blaise and Mrs. Beal were recognized by scoutmaster Harvey as the first Cub Master and first Den Mother of Pack 208, which was chartered 15 years ago.

Bay St. Louis attorney Nicholas Haas was guest speaker for the affair.

Bay Police Now On CB 12

Effective March 15, the Bay St. Louis Police Department communications will switch from Citizens Band Radio Channel 7 to CB Emergency Channel 12, with call letters KEW 0614. Newly acquired radio equipment now enables the police department to remain on a 24-hour emergency monitor.

Emergency calls for help will be taken by Bay PD radio operators round the clock, Chief William Carbonette advised, by radio, short wave or telephone.

In the event of a national emergency the police department will switch from Channel 12 to Emergency Channel 9, also on Citizens Band radio, for the duration of the emergency.

THE A.P. SMITH home on South Beach near Ballentine St. was typical of the Plantation style of architecture so prevalent on the Gulf Coast around the turn of the century. A prominent Bay St. Louis physician, Dr. Smith and his family occupied the home until the mid-sixties. The house was destroyed by hurricane Camille in 1969. This photograph was taken about 1914. Cop Out Parents

How much do you care about your child?
Do you care enough to go to the drug abuse forum Friday night at the American Legion Hall? Or are you going to come up with a long string of excuses for not attending?

Spare us the excuses. We've heard them all and they're all a bunch of garbage. For those of you who don't attend, the only excuse you won't give is the truth—that you don't have the guts to go. Which, freely translated in more delicate terms, means that you don't REALLY love your child. You love him less than yourself and only enough to insure that he won't do anything to embarrass you, or cause YOU any trouble or cost you anything.

Do you love him enough to have him arrested for breaking the law? Do you love him enough to face the fact that his personality change probably means that he is turning on? Do you care enough to search his drawers and his room, or count the pills and medicines in your medicine cabinet? And when you do find something, do you care enough to face him with it and talk about it?

That takes guts. It's tough to be a parent these days, but it's also tough to be a teenager. The average 12 to 15-year-old has more pressure from his peer group than his parents ever did at his age and he needs all the help he can get. He looks to his parents for the strength and moral courage he hasn't developed yet.

He's looking to you for the strength to face life and facts and help him decide which way to go. You may be disappointed in him when he doesn't make the football team or come home with straight A's.

But he is also disappointed in you when you shove your parental responsibilities off on the police and the juvenile authorities. How do we know, and how do the police and juvenile authorities know? Because we talk to your children and they tell us the things that you don't want to hear.

If you do ask him if he's turning on he'll probably lie. You know why? Not because he's afraid of you. Because he knows you can't handle it and he doesn't want to hurt you. Besides, how can you talk about something you know absolutely nothing about?

Dr. John Russell, Albert Neece and Jim Hanley (Friday night's drug panel) care a lot about your kids. They all have children of their own and they know far more about your children and what they're doing than you do. They are taking time away from their children to come to Bay St. Louis and talk to you about your children—absolutely free. They are paid nothing and they charge nothing. THAT'S caring—and love.

What they're going to tell you will be hard to take. Dr. Russell is going to show films that will tear your heart out. Real scenes of real kids turning on and all strung out on dope. There are also scenes in the morgue of kids who are very dead from overdoses of dope. It's already happened here in Bay St. Louis. Your kid could be next.

Maybe you had better come Friday night and find out what's happening. And bring all your children with you, from second graders up. Don't ask them, tell them to come. You may be surprised to find out that there is very little that Dr. Russell will say about drug abuse that your children don't already know.

Any older teenagers who aren't afraid to come will think that they already know more than the panel does. But they haven't met Dr. Russell yet—are they in for a shock!

So what kind of parent are you? A cop out parent with no guts or one who really cares about his children?

Guess we'll know Friday night by those who come...and those who stay away.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

"The Ides of March are come," he jeered.
But the soothsayer shook his head
And sadly gazed at the doomed man,
"But not yet gone," he said.

In other words, don't count your chickens before they're hatched. Or, the ball game isn't over till the last man's out. Everyone is a puppet of Fate; sometimes it hits like a load of bricks, but for most people it sneaks up and deals gently—most don't realize until they are old and uneventful and humdrum their lives have been. Perhaps they are the lucky ones, but after all, what difference does it make? As Thomas Gray put it:

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth
e'er gave,
Awaits alike the inevitable hour,
The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

Many good men and women have lived out their whole lives in humble surroundings. Take the thousands who have worked and planned, loved and laughed, won or failed, right here in this section over the past hundred and fifty years: what memorials are there to these? What has their work accomplished, what monuments are there to their dreams? When their Ides of March came, they, like Caesar, departed; and as Lincoln might have said of them, "The world will little note, nor long remember, what they said here"—their paths of glory surely lead but to the grave.

And yet, what would this country, this community, be today were it not for the lives and virtues—aye, and faults—of the men and women who strove and hoped here over the years? For they were they little parts which forged the complicated whole, and our little spot on earth today is what they unknowingly made it.

And now all those oldsters have met their Ides of March and are gone. We remember finding, at one time, near Port Gibson, three unmarked graves, mere grass-covered depressions in the ground. These were once soldiers, or perhaps lawyers or merchants or farmers who played their part in the drama of life and are now one with the Ages. Were they ambitious or cowardly, did they aim high or grub among the hushes? But this we know: we are The Inheritors; whatever life is today in our neighborhood is the distillate of their lives, and whatever we are will be echoed in the Life to Come.

We are what suns and winds and waters make us,
The mountains are our sponsors, and the hills
Fashion and win their nursing from their smiles.

Forestry Report

People often overlook the destructiveness of woods fires because they are not directly deprived of economic value. This is not true whether you derive your income directly from the forest or not. Our total state economy is very much so inter-related to our forests.

Mississippi Forestry Commission County Forester Mike Hendry of Hancock County asked, "Have you got money to burn?" All of us would say no, however, when a forest fire occurs this is exactly what is happening.

We can not fool ourselves any longer but through public concern we must put a stop to the destructive woods arsonist and boost our economic standing for the years to come.

"OH, NO!... NOT AGAIN."

Warren Carver and Andre Arceneaux know a great deal more about the needs, desires, and aspirations of the majority of the people of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, than you and I will probably ever know. My disagreements with my cohorts often are a direct result of our difference in backgrounds and basic philosophy. It is almost sadistic the manner in which our local newspaper delights in playing up our verbal exchanges, however, this is also the path you have chosen. My own impression is that people are not impressed by my degree or yours, or that you are a well-paid civil servant of the United States working at the test site and that you live in a large home on the beach with a lovely wife and four fine children, three of whom attend a private school. Neither are they interested in the fact that you and I moved to this area about ten years ago with a wealth of experience from other areas. People are interested in what affects them directly and financially—just as you and I are. For example, I know you are interested in the annexed area insofar as it affects the two pieces of highway property of which you are co-owner. You have questioned me on taxes, police and fire protection, garbage pickup and street lights, none of which fall under my direct supervision, but I cannot recall a serious discussion on the extension of the gas, water, and sewerage systems into the annexed area, except being asked about the location of the proposed water line and to agree that a total system will be expensive because of the low density of population in the areas. I do recall that Bouslog Street was paved without cost to the abutting property owners of which you are one.

Thirdly, to paraphrase another, your remarks at the public meeting last Monday night were "crude" and if they are indicative of the "professional" approach, I fail to comprehend it. Such remarks that would question the right of a "service station operator" to run for public office and be elected by democratic process to the office of Commissioner of Finance and the remark "you get what you pay for" sound more like back fence gossip than an intelligent discourse on the virtues of the City-Manager form of government as it would apply to our City. I believe that instead of calling the newspaper and asking them not to quote you and writing a letter of apology to Andre, that you should use a public forum and apologize to the people of Bay St. Louis for your unkind remarks.

As a person who knowingly has a low tolerance for stress, and as a "professional", I would like to remind all people who have had the good fortune to have an extensive academic education and formal training that often one of their biggest problems is that they tend to denigrate other men mainly to bolster their own feelings of self-esteem, and for a person to flaunt his intellectual ability is not the mark of a true "professional" or for that matter indicative of Christian character. The more difficult and humanistic approach is to attempt to view the problems from the standpoint of the man on the street who pays your salary and mine. Nobody ever won a ball game sitting on the sidelines and telling others how the game should be played.

Fourthly, I have reviewed the minutes of the Planning and Zoning Commission and I find that only a few questions that have been before that group have been squarely faced and a decision made. To emphasize my point, at your meeting of February 15, 1973, the president of Magnolia State Supply Company, which is "near the Hancock Bank building", requested a change in zoning and motions were made that the usage as requested be allowed and to "table the appeal indefinitely". What earthly good is this to the owner who needs the change in order to lease his property for a business similar to that being carried on in the old Ford building where the Planning and Zoning Commission had changed the zoning to M-1 and which, incidentally, is "near the Merchants Bank building". Do you remember the Trinity Christian Training Institute request? It was tabled for six months at the meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission on December 19, 1972. Then we have a motion that was passed that city officials be "apprised" that the proposed construction on North Beach Boulevard and Highway 80 was "not in compliance...". Again the question was not before your group, but I think you should know that the owner and his group are acting on the advice of other "professionals" and certainly with the blessing of the Commission Council. Then we have the meeting where the building of a steel structure at the end of Second Street was "approved" without the benefit of a petition or public notice and hearing. Which brings up the building inspector problem, who has been approved by a majority of the Commission Council. I do not like the decision but it was made twice and I accept that fact. Then we come to the motion that the Planning and Zoning Commission go on record as favoring the proposed City-Manager form of government as being more efficient than the existing form of government. It is interesting to read your letter to the editor that it "...voted without a single dissenting vote...". The minutes of that meeting reflect that I abstained, 2 absent and not voting, and 4 voting for. The innuendos I got from your letter were somewhat different than the minutes of the meeting. It was noted that on this particular vote the names were not given as to the vote, but I assume that, as chairman, you did not vote.

To my knowledge you have never received a request from me or the Commission Council to hold any kind of special or regular meeting with regard to recommendations as to a "Neighborhood Development Program". Please define "City Administration". Incidentally, as I remember, the Planning and Zoning Commission was requested to review the 701 Plan ten or twelve months ago. I am sure you know what the 701 Plan is. It is the one started by the General Electric Company, who, with all of their expertise, talents, resources, and "professional" help, had to get a consulting firm from Jackson to complete the job. If you will refer to the minutes of January 26, 1973, you will find reference to a phone call made to me at home for advice during the course of the meeting and I gave an off-the-cuff opinion which the Planning and Zoning Commission adopted. And in the same meeting, City Hall is berated for the applicant's problems.

"WITH THE ABOVE AS BACKGROUND", you may think that I am an egotistical slob but do you really

Legislative Report

by EARL "BUCK" LADNER
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
HANCOCK COUNTY

House Bill 140, known as the Coastal Wetlands Bill, has passed the House and is now in the Senate Marine Conservation Committee. The bill relates to the issuance of permits to alter the wetlands, and proposes to make the Mississippi Marine Resources Council the administrative agency.

Legislation to amend the Mississippi Garnishment Law died last week when the House voted to recommit House Bill 68 to the Judiciary "A" Committee for further study. The maneuver to recommit came after the House had voted in favor of an amendment to remove the employer from the collection and disbursement responsibilities. Though the legislation is dead for this session, the vote on the amendment did show there is much support in the Legislature to get the employer out of the collecting business.

On Wednesday, March 7, the House defeated Senate Bill 2002. If passed the bill would have created a Mississippi Egg Marketing Board for the purpose of promoting the use of eggs in Mississippi; to provide for an assessment of three cents per case on eggs produced or marketed in the state; to provide for collection by the Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce, and for the use of such funds; to provide for licensing of persons selling eggs to retailers in Mississippi, and for related purposes. It was felt by the majority of the House that this legislation would only hurt the consumer public in the end.

House Bill 979, which was defeated by the House twice last week but held on a motion to reconsider, met with a compromise this past Tuesday and was unanimously approved by the House.

The compromise would put a 36 percent maximum interest rate on small loans; would allow direct borrowing from a lender without a middleman, and would require lenders to pay rebates on interest when a loan is paid or renewed ahead of schedule. This bill was considered to be a victory for the people.

The Mississippi Legislature is in the last three weeks of the 1973 session. Due to this I cannot say definitely if I will be able to meet with the public for the next 2 weeks. If anyone has any questions or would like to speak with me about any matter of which I may be of assistance, please call me in Jackson at 948-7321 or call locally 487-5117 and I will return your call as soon as I am contacted.

wonder why I question your motives for the letter to the editor on the eve of an election in which you have stated "City Manager is the only way to go"? Such dogmatic statements sound too much like me before I had the actual privilege of serving in municipal government.

Fifth and lastly, I sincerely hope that you will consider "donating" some more of your valuable time, talents, and "professional" opinions in "doing your utmost to help Bay St. Louis grow in a planned sensible manner" by going to the office of the City Clerk and signing up for one of the jobs available this July at half your salary. If doesn't cost one nickel to sign up. I promise you four years of the greatest learning experience you have ever had. Of course, it won't all be at a "professional" level, but it involves our one real asset—people.

We could use a registered professional engineer to take over as Commissioner of Utilities, and with a good secretary, and a little free legal advice, you might make it as City Clerk too. There is only one problem, how to get elected. But assuming that problem could be overcome, BEWARE of the Council Meetings, because sometimes I don't get my way and it makes me want to cry like a big baby. My sage advice to you is that if you don't like the heat in the kitchen—do like me—get out.

In hoc signo vinces.

Reflections

THE A.P. SMITH home on South Beach near Ballentine St. was typical of the Plantation style of architecture so prevalent on the Gulf Coast around the turn of the century. A prominent Bay St. Louis physician, Dr. Smith and his family occupied the home until the mid-sixties. The house was destroyed by hurricane Camille in 1969. This photograph was taken about 1914. Photo courtesy of Mrs. Terrell Perkins of Bay St. Louis. (Readers are urged to submit photos to the Echo for use in Reflections. Pictures will be returned unharmed at the Echo office. Use of all photos is left to the discretion of the editor.)

Shamrocks Fight Dystrophy

There's a new meaning springing up around the traditional "wearing O" the green" on St. Patrick's Day and it will soon be spreading through the Bay-Waveland area like shamrocks across an Irish meadow.

Student Aid Asked

Talks concerning the litter problem and the March Cleanup Campaign in Bay St. Louis were given at St. Rose, North Bay Elementary and Bay
Senior High schools this past week.

Mrs. H.L. Robinson and Mrs. P.J. Benvenuti urged the students to enlist the aid of their parents in making Bay
St. Louis a more presentable place to live. They also discussed the various art ecology contests being conducted this month.

Miss June Dearman,
Chairman of the Bay-Waveland "Shamrocks For Dystrophy" drive, announced today that volunteers aiding the Mississippi Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America will soon be offering the public green "Shamrocks For Dystrophy" buttons in return for contributions to the fight against dystrophy and related crippling diseases.

The "Shamrocks For Dystrophy" drive will be conducted here and nationwide throughout March. Each shamrock fastened to a lapel represents a contribution to aid MDA's vital research and patient service programs.

"The idea, Miss Dearman said, "is to turn this St.
Patrick's Day into a symbol of hope and help for hundreds of thousands of tragically afflicted children and adults.
Volunteers, dressed in Shamrock Garb, will be offering "Shamrocks For Dystrophy" at the shopping centers, St. Patrick's Day

Parade and at a Shamrock
Roadblock at Main Street and Highway 90.

"Those who volunteer to distribute "Shamrocks For Dystrophy" buttons and tags will be giving MDA a much-needed help in its fund-raising effort. Wearing the "Shamrock For Dystrophy" is a fine way to give added meaning to this St. Patrick's Day" she stated.

Weekly Drug Abuse Show Starts On Channel 13

Beginning Monday, March 12, Dr. John Russell, Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center Director, will report on the current conditions on the drug scene in Mississippi. These reports will be televised at 6:35 p.m. each Monday evening on Channel 13, WLOX-TV.

Dr. Russell plans to speak out on areas involving numbers of young adults who are using drugs abusively, what kind and names of the drugs, how, for example, classroom teachers may spot the student-user, and others. There will also be live interviews with young drug users and former addicts.

It is the wish of the Drug Abuse Center staff, Dr. Russell, stated that all school administrators, counselors and teaching staffs in the south Mississippi area be watchful of these information type programs, and then use the information while on the job—even while just shopping or walking down the street on their own time.

A concerted effort on the part of school staffs, law enforcement officials, judiciary institutions, parents and friends will be needed if the threat from chemical and drug abuse in south Mississippi is to be met.

Remember the broadcast time, day and channel . . . WLOX-TV, CHANNEL 13, each MONDAY EVENING at 6:35 p.m., Dr. Russell on Drug Abuse in the Gulf Coast area.

Rotarians Hear Austrian Student

Bay St. Louis Rotarians heard an address at the March 7 luncheon meeting by a native of Austria now completing graduate work at Tulane University in New Orleans, under a grant from the Rotary Foundation.

Heinz E. Klee, a native of Linz, Austria, described the beauties of his country, its unique geographic position, its history since World War II and the influence of Russia on the country.

About 90 percent of Austria's food requirements is supplied by small farms on which modern farm machinery cannot be used, Klee told listeners. The present form of government is Socialist and a seven percent annual inflation rate is one of the country's problems, he explained.

Klee holds a Masters Degree from Johann Kepler University in Linz and is now completing work toward a doctorate at the Tulane School of Business Administration.

Associate Advisor Cecil Powell and Cub Master Robert Harvey.

A number of other Scout awards were presented the following evening at the Scouts' Blue and Gold banquet, also held at the Legion Hall.

Haas Named Library Week Chairman For Hancock County

Norton Haas, Sr. has been named to serve as Chairman of National Library Week, set for April 8 - 14 in Hancock County, according to a spokesman for the Hancock County Library Association.

A civic leader in Hancock County, Mr. Haas is active in the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for which he has served on the membership committee for the past two years. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Hancock County United Fund and participated in the 1972 fund raising drive.

Mr. Haas is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the New Orleans Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America and served as Campaign Chairman for capital improvements of the V-Bar Ranch in Hancock County for the Cypress District.

He has been a member of the Advisory Committee for the City-County Public Library for the past three years and was instrumental in bringing bookmobile service to county residents.

"I am vitally concerned about improving the reading skills and interests of the people of Hancock County," Haas said. "The ability to read, and to read well, is vital to a free, democratic society. Every one of us should keep informed about what is happening throughout the world, as well as in our state and nation.

"Reading also provides endless hours of pleasure. It broadens our outlook and gives us deeper understanding of the life around us," he continued. "I urge everyone to observe National Library Week by visiting the libraries in our area—school, college, and special, as well as public—and finding out what are their resources, what they have to offer. I am sure everyone who visits a library will come away with a better understanding of the role libraries play in the educational life of this community."

American Legion Starts Scholarship

The Bay St. Louis American Legion Hall was filled to capacity Thursday night when Post 139 Legionnaires and the Ladies Auxiliary gathered for an annual birthday celebration and Boy Scout awards presentations.

A highlight of the dinner meeting was announcement of a Legion scholarship program, newly instigated by Post 139. Beginning with the 1973-74 session the program will annually provide a $500 scholarship to a student from Hancock County, to be administered through the student aid and scholarship department of the University of Southern Mississippi.

Attending the dinner to receive the first scholarship check was Powell G. Ogletree, secretary-treasurer of the USM Foundation. Post Commander Al Vetter made the presentation and outlined scholarship program requirements.

Rather than following traditional requirements of high scholastic standing as well as financial need, students maintaining a C average or better will be considered, Vetter stated. Children of Post members living in Hancock County will be given first preference, however other applicants will be considered.

Applications for the scholarship will be accepted by the post for certification by the commander and nominations will be submitted to the university student aid department for final selection. Only undergraduate students who have applied for admission to the university are eligible for consideration. The deadline for applications to the post commander is May 1, Vetter concluded.

A large birthday cake, signifying the Legion's 54th birthday was cut by Commander Vetter and Mrs. Pauline Chapping, president of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Earlier in the evening, awards of merit for outstanding work with the Legion-sponsored Cub Pack 208 were presented to Assistant Scout Master Charles Sciamma, Explorer Post Advisor Billy Power,

Commission Reports On Boat Horsepower

The Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Commission's office in Jackson reports that many inquiries are received concerning maximum horsepower motors that can be used on boats. These questions are derived from some misinterpretations of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 and regulations issued under that act's provisions.

The present Federal safe powering regulations require that the manufacturer calculate the maximum safe powering capacity of an outboard boat and that this capacity be displayed on the boat. The intent of the regulation is that the safety information be displayed on the boat for the use of the owner or prospective owner in matching a suitable outboard engine to the boat.

The dealer is not in violation of the new Federal regulation if he sells an outboard of greater horsepower than that indicated on the capacity plate. Neither is the owner in violation of the regulation so long as he is operating his boat in a safe and prudent manner. His failure to do so could result in a reckless or negligent operation violation but he would not be cited for overpowering as is commonly believed.

NO STATE REGULATION

There is no present state law or regulation dealing with overpowering of motorboats. A commission spokesman indicated that the accident statistics do not indicate that such a regulation is warranted at this time. He emphasized that the commission cannot speculate on the impact that powering in excess of the rated capacity might or might not have on a civil suit brought by the consumer in product liability litigation under state or common law.

St. Stanislaus Spring Training

By Edward Favre

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw will close out their final week of Spring football practice this Friday night when they play their annual spring game.

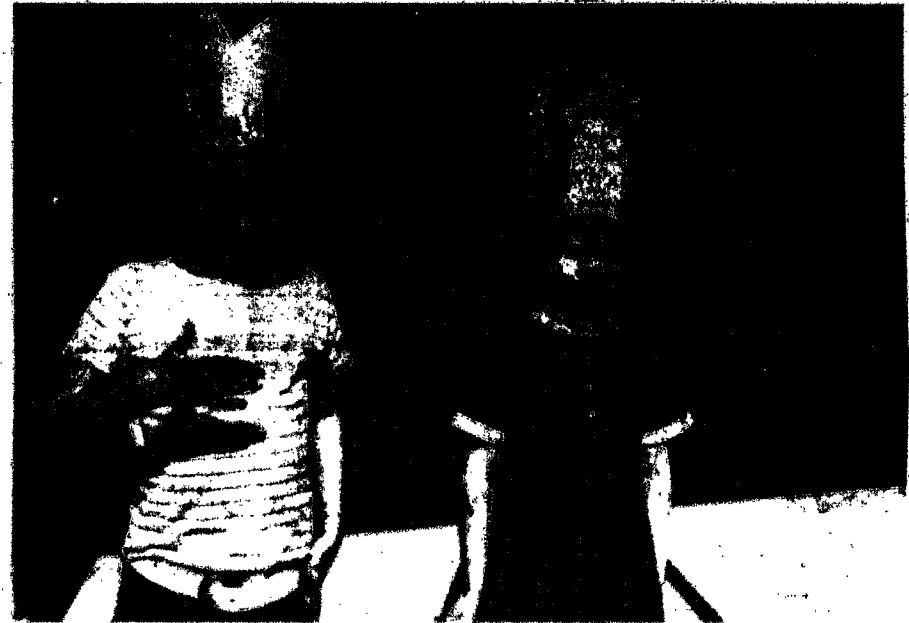

The game will start at 8:00 p.m. Friday, March 16. Due to repair work on the Rock-A-Chaw field the game will be played at Bay High Stadium.

64 boys started out at the beginning of practice, including 18 lettermen, but the squad has now been cut to 24 players.

Head Coach Barry Jones says that the main points of concentration this Spring has been to develop a more versatile offense and a stronger passing attack.

Coach Jones says that he is real pleased with the progress the boys have made thus far and that the boys have shown a lot of hustle and desire and that they really want to play ball.

Don't forget the spring game, Friday night, March 16 at 8:00 will be played at Bay High Stadium due to repairs being made on St. Stanislaus Stadium.

Ladner Suggests Cage Improvements

(Editor's note: The following article was written by Roland Ladner, head basketball coach at the Hancock North Central high school. In it he expresses his views on high school basketball in the state, and some of his suggestions for the improvement of the overall program.)

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR IMPROVING BASKETBALL IN MISSISSIPPI

For many years we basketball coaches have sat back and blamed a poor overall State program on our administration, athletic directors, football coaches, and college coaches for poor scouting, refusing our boys for out-of-state boys, poor press coverage, etc. I think it is about time that someone says what I feel is a must. We basketball coaches need to take a good look at ourselves in the mirror and ask ourselves these questions: What am I doing, and what have I done to improve the game of basketball in Mississippi? Do we even know how our Mississippi Hand Book, our governing laws were formed, how they are amended, how you get an amendment to our Constitution? Do we know how our South and North State Tournaments and State Tournaments sites are selected? Do we know who represents us from our District? Do we ever offer constructive criticism, or do we just condemn those who are trying without offering encouraging suggestions?

I sincerely believe that our overall program will always be as strong or weak as the majority of our basketball coaches. If we don't show a deep interest and work for ourselves, then nobody will. I cannot condemn others for this. If there is any doubt in your mind about our overall program being weak, go back and check for the past 20 years and see where most of our Mississippi Colleges get their basketball players. Find out that a small percent of our players have ever played in the S.E.C. and other states don't waste time scouting in Mississippi.

Our football coaches and their program should be an excellent example to us. You will see men of character. I would personally like to compliment them. They work in harmony, open and above the board. They practice good ethics, set examples for their youngsters to follow. Statistics don't lie. Check for the past 20 years, in comparison to our basketball programs, on the many youngsters who played and are playing football in the S.E.C. and other colleges, not only in Mississippi, but neighboring states. This will tell you much about how the football coaches work for their overall program, and in return, they are respected nationwide. There are many

The part of this letter that I regret having to say, is that I have seen a few basketball coaches in my 22 years of coaching do some of these things: Vote against a qualified player from another school as an all-conference player or all-tournament player because he does not like the coach, or envies his program, vote for an unqualified official because an opposing coach has scratched him; vote against a system for improvement without offering a better proposal; critical of those who are trying. I would not want my youngster taught by such a person, and I question the people who will keep such men in their system. On the positive side, there are some of the finest men known in the basketball coaching profession in Mississippi. Some that you and I would love to have our youngsters associated with. I do not have to call names, if you have one of these men, you know it.

It is my sincere desire that you will take these suggestions, question them, find a way to improve them, or supplement them with a better suggestion.

1. Do as they do in football...play on a two year contract. An example of this is: school x plays school y at school x in 1973-74 season, and at school y in 1974-75 season. There are enough schools in your area so that this does not involve a lot of travelling. This gets you away from playing a team five different times in one season. This is caused by having too many invitational tournaments involving the same local teams. If you play different teams you will get the average basketball fan. He is necessary to support your program, not only morally, but financially. Most administrators have to answer to their school boards, who expect the program to be almost self supporting. It is a known fact that more schools have had instant success in their basketball program in the past few years. It is also a statistical fact that home attendance is decreasing each year, even with a winning season. This will destroy your program, unless you find a way to keep it almost self-supporting.

2. Appoint a standing basketball committee in each district to work constantly to seek improvement, recommend to the district, who will vote and recommend to your state legislative body.

3. Limit the number of invitational basketball tournaments in each district. Have a seating capacity of, say, 2000 or more before you can host the tournament. Require the host school to be satisfied with concessions and a smaller percent, rather than the normal 50 percent. This would allow participating schools to share in the profits, to defray expenses, and operate their program. The kids will play before a larger audience, college scouts will come more often, and your kids will work a little extra on their own time because it will mean more.

4. There are 4 Districts in South Mississippi, and 4 in North Miss. In the 4 classifications there are 4 So. State & 4 No. State Tournaments held each year during the same week. Each district's fair share is 2 of these tournaments each year.

In our district in 1960-61 season, I learned in my first year of coaching that we had no coastal representation on the committee that sets these sites. I have lobbied, seemingly at times in vain, for South State Tournaments in our District, for our fair share of representation on the State Committee, and Legislative body. For many years I was given the excuse that they had to locate these tournaments centrally. After a few years they begin to creep north, and there were other excuses; but again this blame should, and must, go to our basketball coaches of District Eight. I truly admire District One coaches and the coaching staff at Booneville Jr. College in Northeast Mississippi. They got a State Tournament almost every year. They get it through organized work. They are an example of how this nation became great; they work to help their neighbors; our coastal fans each year spend thousands of dollars with merchants, restaurants, service stations, and motels somewhere North of the Coast. We often want to blame this on our State Athletic Director, Mr. M.P. Smith. He is not the man who makes this final decision. It may be worth a basketball coach's time to meet personally Mr. M.P. Smith and Mr. Jim H. Landrum, chairman of your State Executive Committee. They are men of character, and dignity, and may be able to use their influence with your state representatives and legislators to improve our system. But unless you meet them, and suggest improvements, I would think, as they must, you are satisfied.

Last year our basketball team and many fans spent the weekend in Meridian for the South-State Tournament being held North of Meridian. We did not complain because we felt that they would probably send the A-boys South State Tournament to the Coast this year (but did not). I had a feeling that the Constitution which sets those tournaments would be an example of fair play, as they would expect me or anyone else to do if we were teaching their children.

Perkinson Jr. College offered a nice bid for it. They offered lodging to the traveling teams, and meals in the cafeteria. A big saving to most of the schools that are running a close budget. A thought, which I want to leave with the basketball coaches in each area is: If you are concerned about your fans, their expenses, your merchants, etc., they may be more concerned about you or your program. We have never had on the Coast an A-BB or B South boys or girls tournament, except one year, in 1960 B-BB boys at Bay St. Louis.

For this tournament I would like to say a big thanks to Joe D. McCullough and Donald Caldwell of the Bay St. Louis school system, and R. E. Webb, at the time principal of Hancock North Central. I personally know that these men spent many hours of their personal time lobbying for this tournament. At the time we had no coastal representation on the Committee to pick these sites. It was one year that our money stayed with our local merchants, and they enjoyed the benefit of our northern neighbors' money.

5. Let the Big Eight keep their conference, but let it be recognized as a State play-off in basketball. They may want to use their influence with your state representatives and legislators to improve our system. But unless you meet them, and suggest improvements, I would think, as they must, you are satisfied. They are the only schools that receive state wide recognition and coverage from the press in football. Do away with all of the small conferences and let the other classifications substitute District play for conference play. Then let football have a state play-off as other sports do. This would be only fair to the other schools in football. This would bring about a better relationship with football and other sports in their schools.

As it is now, football coaches are forced to be more interested in conference play and basketball, track, and baseball coaches more interested in District and State play-off.

It is too demanding on Big Eight Schools to have an overall state play-off in their conference and come back the following week and participate in the regular District, South State, State, and overall state play-off.

6. Select a person or committee to keep the press informed. Last, but not least our District coaches voted against a motion at our last general meeting in Wiggins February 5, 1973. The proposal is: All State Tournaments for boys and girls, (B, BB, A, AA) should be in the Mississippi Coliseum. The two top teams from each classification (boys and girls) shall advance from the North and South Tournaments to the State Tournaments. Tournaments for girls team (B, BB, A, AA) shall be played on one weekend and tournaments for boys (B, BB, A, AA) should be played on the following weekend. The overall championship tournament shall be played in the Mississippi Coliseum on the weekend for boys.

Our District coaches voted against this motion. I believe the reason was that they are uninformed, and unaware of how long it took some of us coaches to get such a proposal on the agenda. There may be a better plan, but it takes a lot of hard work to get a com-

You can't tell about the weather these days, one day is clear, the next cool and rainy. What is needed for good fishing is about 4 days of steady weather, warm preferable. When the water is cold fish take under water baits. When it is warm they hit on the surface. Bass fishing has improved a lot. For the past week they have been hitting on the surface; hitting popping brigs. Such old time bass fishermen as August Rauxet, Nicky Rauxet, Micky Demoran, Alden Mauffray, Ray Garner, Ken McCarty, Yours Truly, Micky Kingston and others have been reporting good catches of bass and perch. They have been gotten in Black Bayou, Mills Bayou and other streams in the Pearl River area, at the head of the bayous where the water is clear.

The water in the Jourdan River and Bayou LaCrosse areas is still on the shady side. Local lakes like Ted Lyman's, Doctor Dodson's, Colly's are all shallow and full of grass which makes fishing the hard way. Most bayous are rather deep with no grass. Both surface and under water baits can be used effectively.

Salt water fishing should improve right along. A few hard crabs are being caught. Catching hard crabs will get better soon, when the crabs move in. No soft crabs have been reported as yet. Warmer weather is needed.

mittie to agree and come forth with a proposed change. I think the committee, with every District in the State well represented, came up with a good proposal. I, for one, am not going to knock their plan without a better proposal. This is a similar plan that most states have. Since our coaches of this district voted this proposal down, they owed an amendment, or suggestion, to supplement this proposal. Let's hope the other seven districts will save this proposal.

The disadvantage of it is: It does not let the 3rd and 4th place team advance to the State Tournament. It extends the basketball season one week, but this probably can be eliminated by reversing the girls and boys State Tournament.

The advantages surely outweigh the disadvantages. People can be assured of a nice comfortable seat. People traveling from the extreme parts of the State may see the entire tournament. The press will do a better coverage, college scouts will come not only from Mississippi, but neighboring States. The kids from smaller school classification will receive overdue recognition.

May I leave you with this last thought. Contrary to the tales that are told on the Hancock North Central basketball program, we are usually self-supporting. Much is demanded out of our athletes to be an example in and out of the classrooms. Our kids are encouraged to do their best in whatever they endeavor to do, and to earn what they receive. They are taught that you cannot gain by cutting your neighbor down. They may shoot the ball or dribble it extra hours, but not on school time or school hours.

John Scaife, Jr., went out the other night on an inspection trip for soft crabs. Didn't do too good, he reported.

Read where in Pennsylvania for every two deer bagged by hunters one falls victim to an automobile, usually on an interstate highway.

The spunkiest and largest of the true sunfishes, the bluegill can reach quite respectable size. This is attested to by the four-pound twelve-ounce world record that was set in 1950 at Ketona Lake, Alabama. Louisiana's record is 2 pounds, 8 ounces set in 1959. The bluegill is one of our better panfish. They are caught by still fishing mostly with earth worms, grub's, crickets, small spinners, artificial flies, grass shrimp and popping bugs. When hooked on a fly rod they put up a real fight. When cooked in corn meal they make a delicious seafood meal.

Ken McCarty has been catching some nice bass and perch. Ken does mostly fly fishing and casting.

Carl Gustafson, Sr. and son, Jr., are salt water fishermen. They go regularly out to the marshes. They use their boat to advantage. Carl, Jr. also is a good fly fisherman.

E.P. Symmes with Farris Bros. Inc., (wholesale fishing tackle) is one of the best at walking fishing tackle. Don't know how good he is at fishing.

Judge Holmes is still talking about the big red fish he caught last year. Time to get another one, Judge.

A good way to catch soft crabs and flounders is to have the proper gear. Now is the time to check the old lantern, clean it and change the generator for best results.

Was quite a pleasure to see Fred Lester from New York who was down last week. Fred visited us and went fishing with us a year or so ago. He is an ardent fisherman and praised our gulf coast and its fishing. Fred was the guest of John Scaife, Sr.

Archie Diebold, asst. parade marshal for last year's St. Patrick Day Parade at Waveland predicts a bigger and better parade next Saturday. The parade is sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association. Everyone loves a parade, so be on hand for this one. Lots of fun is in store for old and young.

Jack Brown, a local contractor, is an ardent fisherman. Goes when conditions are right. Gets his share of fish, too.

Dan Seely son of Clayton Seely, was over for the weekend. He is from Westwego and does a lot of fishing, according to his dad.

Wop Glover was over from New Orleans last weekend. Wop hunts when hunting is right and fishes when conditions are O.K. Was visiting friends this time.

You don't have to be a caster or fly fisherman to catch bass and perch. The old perch pole, a few worms, etc. will do the trick. Fish from the bank most anywhere, along bayous, in lakes and ponds. There are a thousand places here about.

A nice lunch to take fishing is a couple of cans of potted meat and a few crackers. Of course a bottle of ice water or a couple of cans of beer come in mighty handy. Will keep one going until supper time.

A fisherman's scale tells the truth. Most fish look big to the one catching them. Any bass missed is said to be 4 pounds or better. In reality it weighs much less.

When hooking a fish give it a second tug. This drives the hooks in. Try it.

Forest LaFontaine does not fish too much but he enjoys playing the "Ranger Waltz" by Mom and Dad.

Ben Mutter has gotten a 14 foot aluminum boat. He says he is going fishing and crabbing the right way this summer.

Saw a few butterflies while out fishing the other day. This is a good sign that bass will be hitting on the surface. Use the same color bugs as the butterflies. It pays off.

Won't be long before frogs will make their appearance. Heard some big ones bellowing the other night. Frogs are found mostly in ditches and shallow lakes.

A different place to go fishing is Bayou Des Almonds up the Mississippi River just above New Orleans. 5 pound bass and better were caught last week. It is a haven for large perch. Boats are available. Fly fishing and casting is best.

In Hancock and Harrison or other counties turkey hunting will be done in parts of March and April. Hunters who only hunt turkeys will take to the woods after the wild old birds. It is said calling turkeys is an art. Calling too many times is a mistake which amateurs do. Something new in turkey hunting is camouflaged prefabricated blinds and suits. Old time turkey hunters never used such things. They hunted them the hard way.

Sandra Lane Named Pageant Finalist

Direct Dialing Equipment Being Installed

South Central Bell said that installation of Direct Distance Dialing equipment has begun for the firm's Pearlington exchange, which is scheduled to cut over to the new service in April.

South Central Bell district manager F.M. Kyle, Jr., said installers of Western Electric have already started putting in the complex switching equipment that will be needed before Pearlington telephone customers can dial their one-plus long distance calls direct.

After the installation work is completed, the equipment must then be thoroughly tested before being released for use.

The $31,000 project will not only link Pearlington with 121,000,000 telephones in over 53,000 cities that can be dialed direct, but will also provide facilities for future telephone growth in the area.

"Work is proceeding on schedule," Kyle said, "and as the actual cutover date gets closer we will issue specific dialing instructions to our customers so they can get the maximum benefit from one-plus direct dialing."

Firemen Ask County Funds

A spokesman for the Hancock Firemen's Association asked county supervisors Monday to give favorable consideration to the association when fixing federal revenue sharing fund allocations.

A new mutual fire fighting agreement among member volunteer departments has been signed to provide increased fire protection for the entire county, George Cleary told the board, but the five volunteer departments are greatly in need of funding for equipment to upgrade each department.

Departments entering into the mutual aid agreement are Bay St. Louis Volunteer, Clermont Harbor Volunteer, East Hancock Volunteer, Kiln Volunteer, and Waveland Volunteer.

Cleary, who is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Fire Prevention Committee and a member of the Chamber Board of Directors, gave each supervisor an informational kit containing a copy of the mutual aid agreement as well as an equipment inventory list for each department showing equipment on hand and proposed acquisitions over a five-year period.

The board would consider the request, Cleary was told, and a decision tabled for a future meeting.

Sodality Holds Meeting

Sodality of Our Lady of St. Clare's Parish met last Tuesday afternoon in Costello Hall with Mrs. Junius Boudreaux, prefect, conducting the business session.

Reports were given by Mrs. Joseph Damiens, recording secretary, and Mrs. Adrienne Chagnard, treasurer. Mrs. Edward Canady, publicity chairman, in the absence of Mrs. Maurice Puchot, corresponding secretary, told of correspondence received and sent out during the month.

Mrs. William Faulkner, sewing chairman, announced her co-chairmen are Miss Elda Louviere and Mrs. David Markey. She also noted a sewing session will be held Tuesday, March 20, at her home on Waveland Avenue.

Mrs. Boudreaux appointed Mrs. Laurence Sauer, Christmas party chairman to replace Mrs. Archie Diebold who resigned. Serving as co-chairmen will be Mesdames David Markey, Walter Allen and Melvin Stoltz.

A new member, Mrs. Melvin Stoltz, was welcomed by the group. Following the closing prayer by Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Scanlon, pastor, St. Clare Church, a social hour was enjoyed by the 36 members attending with Mrs. Diebold as hostess assisted by Mrs. Frank Lotz.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates state enrollments will rise rapidly in the 1970s, with 2,900 new officers being recruited each year.

Powerlift Meet Set Saturday

For the past six years, with the exception of 1969, the Mississippi Open Powerlift Meet has been held at St. Stanislaus School in Bay St. Louis. These meets are sanctioned by the S.A.A.U. Lifters from various sections of the country have participated in these meets, however, most lifters are from the Mississippi-Louisiana area. Last year former national champion "Doc" Rhodes set an unofficial world record for the 195 pound class by totaling 1800 pounds. This year weights will be weighed in the event of a record being set. On Saturday, March 17, at St. Stanislaus College the Mississippi Open Powerlift Meet will be held beginning at 10 a.m. and is expected to be concluded by 6 p.m. There will be an admission fee of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. The public is invited to attend.

Crews Place In Mardi Gras Race

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club finished second in both the GYA and the Open Flying Boat Class at the annual Mardi Gras Regatta held at New Orleans Yacht Club March 3 and 4. Harry Chapman with his crew, Amy Chapman and Buzzy Hensler, sailed the first race Saturday through a dense fog earning a second for BWYC with Doug Davis of NOYC first. Weather conditions were so bad many of the skippers could not see the race course and were unable to finish. In the Sunday morning race BWYC's skipper Buzzy Hensler and his crew, Chip Merlin and Woody Stiefel, finished second, once again behind NOYC with Robert Brennan at the helm. BWYC's only entry in the Open Boat Class, Chuck Breath and his crew, Chris Stiefel and Tony Hysner, earned an overall second place. Greg Smith of Mobile Yacht Club was first.

During Fiscal Year 1972, VA expects an increase of more than 100,000 veteran-students over Fiscal Year 1971's record enrollment in education, training and readjustment benefits.

In close consultation with the Department of Defense, the VA has reached its plans to provide all needed assistance to returning POWs, and to the families of servicemen missing-in-action.
